1ª QUESTÃO

1. Learning styles are individual stable characteristics that learners have and that influence/determine their specific ways of learning
2. Teachers need to be aware of the concept of learning styles in order to take learners' differences into consideration when teaching; in order to motivate them, in order to encourage learners to incorporate approaches to learning that they do not naturally have and in order to give all kinds of learners the chance to achieve success.
3. Because learners are different not only in terms of learning styles, but also as a result of their age, nationality or gender. In the case of male/female classes, the predominance of male learners may mean a different dominant class, compared to a predominantly female group.
4. Because learners are very different and respond differently to stimuli, so, the adoption of certain materials and methods does not guarantee the same results for all learners.
5. Two of the following ways: the power-distance between learners and teachers may affect the type of interaction they have; the idea of what good communication is may vary from culture to culture; learners' attitude; learners' motivation; values attributed to learning; values attributed to education.
